A sample PDF we will use to check the module which we made. Module will take this file as input through command line arguments now and it will convert this into a txt file. This txt file will be used for analysis of the words.

This is random data

Python is great

Import this

Zen of Python